

MANY STUDENTS OVERCOME BY NOXIOUS FUMES OF ESCAPING GAS

Carried Into Rooms Through Ventilating System of the High School This Morning.

TWO TEACHERS TAKEN ILL

Nearly a Dozen About High School Fainted and One or Two Escaped Entirely the Effects of the Near-Death Tragedy—School is Dismissed.

Two teachers and nearly a dozen high school students were overcome by gas fumes in the high school building about 10:30 today and half a hundred others were made so ill they had to be taken home. Scarcely a student in high school escaped the effects of the fumes. School was dismissed shortly before 11 o'clock, as soon as the faculty became aware of the seriousness of the situation. Those overcome were:

MISS EMMA SOYER BRADY, teacher in high school.
MISS BEATRICE FORNWAHL, student.
MISS MARY MCCONNELL, student.
MISS ANNA MARY MARRIAGE, student.
MISS JESSIE HALLAM, student.
MISS LUTIE FULTON, student.
MISS MARY WHITE, student.
MISS LENA ZUFFELT, teacher in high school.

The first report was that natural gas caused the trouble, but this was quickly abandoned. Those who succumbed to the odor declared it did not seem like natural gas. However, gas is supposed to have caused the trouble, although the odor did not particularly resemble ordinary sewer gas, either. Some of the school directors are inclined to credit the theory that a pocket of gas in an abandoned mine might have reached a sewer pipe and been carried to the building where the section of the ventilating fan drew it into the ducts.

Employees of the Fayette County Gas Company were unable to locate any leaks in their lines. By noon all traces of the gas had disappeared, although at no time did the gas in the lower floor of the high school building. Throughout the town down district this morning gas fumes were noticeable, in some places being particularly strong.

This afternoon Architect McCollum and a representative of Baker, Smith & Co., who installed the ventilating system, will reach Connelville and, with several members of the school board, will conduct a thorough investigation. Every effort will be made to locate, if possible, the point that the gas gained access to the ventilating ducts.

The deadly gas fumes permeated every room in the building. The cause of the trouble had not been located up to noon although the odor of gas could be detected throughout the entire neighborhood. It is said that leaking gas has been noticed since last Friday, but did not become sufficiently serious to cause apprehension. The theory of the faculty on this morning's near approach to a tragedy is that the gas in some manner reached the ventilating ducts and was funneled into the class rooms.

The trouble was serious. Some of the students were so badly overcome that they did not regain consciousness for more than an hour after the accident. Physicians were summoned to the building, likewise the city bus and automobiles. Most of the pupils overcome were taken home by Driver Edgar Wilkey while others were removed in automobiles of physicians who were summoned.

The effects of the gas came in the usual manner, the first indication of the serious nature of the affair being when the children began to collapse. Principal Bruce U. P. Coburn had a class in the chemical laboratory, which was not reached by the fumes. Immediately upon being informed that several students had collapsed, he ordered school dismissed.

There was a mild panic among the pupils. The sight of the fainting students caused the more nervous ones among the others to become somewhat hysterical. A number of other teachers narrowly escaped being overcome, either from the effects of the gas or from working over the unconscious pupils.

Scores of pupils were made ill from the effects of the leaking gas although they remained unconscious. Dr. J. C. Coll and Thomas H. Francis, responded to requests for medical attention at the high school.

Several other pupils are reported to have been taken ill upon reaching home while one girl fainted on Pittsburgh street at Featherman's furniture store and had to be taken home in an automobile.

Bugess Evans, J. A. Armstrong of the school board and representatives of the Fayette County Gas Company began an investigation into the cause of the trouble as soon as it was reported. Up to noon they were unable to locate the leak. John Patterson, in charge of the heating and ventilating apparatus in the high school building, was unable to cast any light on the matter. He stated that he did not know where the gas could reach the ventilating ducts. As soon as the trouble was detected the fan was shut off. Patterson today had gas only in one boiler, generating steam for the low pressure engine operating the ventilating apparatus. No gas could be detected in the boiler room or on the lower floor of the building. On the main and second floors every room was filled with the noxious fumes.

Principal Coburn directed the students to return for this afternoon's session but if the trouble has not been located by that time there will be no school.

Owing to the fact that the ventilating system is supposed to fill all the rooms with pure air and at the same time exhaust the impure atmosphere, the windows of the school were closed. When the gas entered the rooms the effects were sudden and sweeping. Windows were quickly opened and the breath of fresh air had a tendency to revive those who had not yet collapsed.

Miss Margaret Lyon was one of those who fainted after leaving the building. She, with several others, including Miss Beatrice Fornwahl, was taken into the office of Dr. E. C. Sherrick on South Pittsburgh street. Dr. Sherrick is absent from town. Dr. Francis, making use of the reception room to administer aid to the victims. A crowd of several hundred students gathered in front of the office and watched the locked door apprehensively. Dr. Francis stated that none of the victims was in a serious condition and expected to revive them as quickly as possible.

Sick headaches are the general rule among the students today. Scarcely one who was in the rooms filled with fumes escaped in this respect. It is reported that several girls collapsed as late as an hour after school had been dismissed.

Miss Lena Zuffel, teacher in English, had to be taken home in an automobile.

It is not unlikely that an investigation will be conducted by the school board into the matter. In one of the rooms there was a mild rebellion before school was dismissed. The fault in the ventilating system held by the teacher in charge was not entertained by the pupils. Miss Elizabeth Gomas, one of the students left the room after the teacher had. It is claimed, refused to have the windows opened, by stating that the ventilating system would carry the fumes out quicker than in any other manner. It is said the teacher's action in this matter was guided largely by the belief that the gas fumes were coming from the outside of the building.

At the high school building it was stated that every teacher was prompt in opening the windows. The incident quoted above was declared a "false report" by members of the faculty.

No session was held in the high school this afternoon. Principal Coburn decided this would be unwise. The building will be left free for the inspection this afternoon. The windows were closed after school had been dismissed in an effort to locate more gas, but none developed.

Miss Mary McConnell and Miss Beatrice Fornwahl were probably the most seriously ill. When Miss Fornwahl was taken from her seat she was unconscious and it was feared a fatality would be recorded. She was taken to the office and seated before an open window, while Miss Truxal, Professor Smith and others of the faculty and students, worked diligently to revive her. She became unconscious upon the arrival of Dr. Coll and was able to make her way to Dr. Francis' automobile and be taken home. It was reported that Miss McConnell did not regain consciousness until sometime during the afternoon.

Mr. Coffey is Back on the Job

Superintendent of Transportation M. A. Coffey was at his desk this morning for the first time in several weeks. He is just recovering from a serious illness from pneumonia.

Rev. Geo. H. Flynn Dies of Pneumonia

Rev. George H. Flynn, one of the most widely known ministers in the Pittsburgh conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, died this morning at 8 o'clock at his late home at Turtle Creek following a week's illness of pneumonia. Rev. Flynn is well known in Connelville and the announcement of his death came as a great shock to his many relatives and friends here. He was born in Boston, Mass., and was pastor of the Ohioville and Confluence Methodist Episcopal churches for several years.

He also was pastor of one of the Coal Center, Star Junction, Coraopolis, and Conansburg churches and at the time of his death was pastor of the Turtle Creek Methodist Episcopal church, having been appointed to that charge last fall. Rev. Flynn had frequently occupied the pulpit of the local Methodist Episcopal church.

Rev. Flynn married Miss Laura Kate Davis, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Solomon Davis of Connelville. To the union three children were born, two of whom survive. In addition to his widow and two children, S. B. and Helen, he is survived by one sister, Miss Lida Flynn, and one brother, Edward Flynn, of Boston.

No arrangements have as yet been made for the funeral. It is probable that the interment will take place in Connelville.

Sat on Track; Lost His Life

While sitting on the B. & O. tracks at Stewarton, Pa., on Saturday afternoon Michael Kleitman, a foreigner, was struck and instantly killed by B. & O. train No. 14. He was sitting near a curve and his body was not discovered until after the accident. Kleitman was arrested on last Wednesday night by Officers Joseph O'Brien and P. M. Tull for loitering on sleeping on the West Penn tracks. Kleitman's actions were very peculiar and at the time of his arrest he was thought to be insane.

The body was brought to Connelville and was removed to funeral director J. E. Sims' undertaking rooms and prepared for burial. Coroner J. J. Bell was notified of the death. An inquest was not necessary. Kleitman is survived by a wife and several children in the old country. He was 25 years old. The funeral will take place from J. E. Sims' rooms Wednesday morning.

Title of Alley Starts Something

The official designation of "Butcher alley," as the 15-foot thoroughfare leading off Prospect street has long been known, promises to evoke a controversy between Harry Dunn and Thomas Jones.

At one end of the alley, a short block in length, Mr. Dunn has posted a signboard. It bears the euphonious designation of "Seneca Lane." At the other end Mr. Jones has a signboard also. It reads: "Park View." Town Council may be called to arbitrate this momentous question.

Baxter Begins by Chasing Cows

Policeman Frank Baxter received his initiation Saturday afternoon by aiding in the arrest of three cows found roaming on Hill street property. Officers McDonald and O'Brien also figured in the capture. Burgess Evans reminded the $1 collected for the cows upon a promise by the owner the offense would not be repeated.

Police business Saturday and Sunday netted $21 for the borough. Nothing happened to the force over Sunday.

Debs is Here and Will Talk Tonight

SPECIAL MEETING OF DUNBAR BOARD.

Schools at Trotter, Leisenring No. 1 and Juniata Are Crowded.

WILL GET A NEW SITE

For Trotter Building and Directors Will Meet With the Board of Franklin Township Regarding Conditions at Juniata.

The crowded conditions of the Trotter and Leisenring No. 1 grade schools, and the Juniata school, were discussed at a special meeting of the Dunbar township school board held Saturday afternoon at the Arlington hotel. The building committee reported the matter and recommended the purchase of a new site for the Trotter building and also the building of four additional rooms. The old building has six rooms, all of which are unusually crowded. It is the desire of the board to have the building committee secure a site not so near the street car track as the present location of the school. The committee was instructed to look after a new site. If it is secured the new addition will be adjoining the old building and two rooms in the old building will be abolished and a large hall will be built.

Steps will also have to be taken regarding the crowded condition of the Leisenring No. 1 grade school. On next Saturday afternoon the board will meet at Juniata with the Franklin township board to come to some understanding regarding the crowded condition of the Juniata schools. A number of pupils from Franklin township have been attending the Juniata schools and as the result the school is very much crowded.

Madero's Camp Celebrates Manifesto

United Press Telegram. EL PASO, Tex., May 8.—At an early hour today the insurgents in Madero's camp were still celebrating the Diaz manifesto.

The men gathered around bonfires shouting, dancing and singing throughout the night. The insurgents clearly consider the manifesto as an insurmountable victory, and none doubt that peace will come within a week. Judge Carbajal, Diaz's peace envoy, declared today that he had received no notice of the manifesto, but will probably receive the text before night.

It is expected here that peace negotiations will be renewed with a practical certainty of an amicable outcome.

General Unrest Among Shopmen

United Press Telegram. PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 8.—General unrest among the shopmen of the Pennsylvania and Baltimore & Ohio railroad companies, and rumors, prophecies and guesses as to the extent of the strike, were rife today at the opening of the second week of the May day walkout.

The strikers claim large gains to their ranks, while the railroad officials declare conditions are rapidly becoming normal.

Forty car inspectors at the Union Station here, and 75 out of the 103 left the Ormyth shops on the Monongahela division, went out this morning.

The situation still hinges on the action of the men in the big shops at Altoona.

William Morris is Found Dead

William Morris, aged 55 years, a well known resident of Trotter, was found dead in a sitting posture near the man, Beachley street, and the other morning by Mr. Thomas Keus. Heart failure is supposed to have been the cause of his sudden death. Mr. Morris lived by himself in a small shanty near the Trotter shaft and had been in good health, having been employed on the road near Trotter for several weeks. He had started for his usual Sunday walk and had gone about a half mile when he was stricken. It is believed that he felt the shock coming and attempted to lean against the barn for support. In doing so he fell, sustaining a slight injury to his nose.

Mr. Kerns, who was passing by the barn, saw the man and at first thought he had sat down to rest. As she came nearer to him she discovered that the man was dead. She immediately notified several of the neighbors of Mr. Morris' death and a physician was immediately summoned, and it was found that the man had been dead for some time.

Decased is survived by the following children: Mrs. Thomas Griffin, Ellen and Margaret Beards, of Oliver; Thomas, of Connelville; Joseph, of Uniontown. Two step sons also survive, M. J. Mullen, of Mt. Pleasant, and John Mullen. The body was removed to funeral director J. L. Sador's funeral parlors on West Main street and Coroner J. J. Bell was notified of the man's death. No arrangements have been made for the funeral.

Offer of Diaz May Be Declined

United Press Telegram. MEXICO CITY, Mexico, May 8.—With the offering of Diaz's message to the people in their possession, friends of Francisco I. Madero, Jr. declare it is doubtful as to whether he will accept it or not.

They point out that while Diaz promises to give the country the majority of the reforms advocated by the progressive element, and promises to resign "when peace is restored," there is no guarantee that he will keep his promise.

Some of the more radical insurgents to sympathizers are inclined to believe that the whole thing is a play of the Diaz supporters to get the insurgents to lay down their arms and then re-establish the Diaz dynasty with an army. Others say that the promise should be accepted in good faith.

FAYETTE COKE MEN AT SUMMIT DINNER.

Pennsylvania Railroad Man, S. L. Seymour, Gives His Reasons

WHY COKE TRADE IS DULL

In the Connelville Region—Says Other Regions Have Cut In and the By-Product Ovens Are Lessening the Demand from This District.

About fifty members of the Fayette County Coke Producers Association dined at the Summit Saturday evening as the guests of F. F. Truesdale, special agent of the Pennsylvania railroad in the Connelville region. The dinner was arranged for the coke men to bask in the good fellowship of S. L. Seymour, General Freight Agent of the Pennsylvania railroad in the Pittsburgh district, and incidentally to hear what he had to say about the coke trade and its relationship to the railroad. Attorney J. R. Cray was toastmaster.

There were several short talks by members of the Coke Producers Association, the most extended of which was delivered by E. D. Fulton, Attorney Fulton was rather severe in his general arraignment of corporate interests, especially the railroads.

Mr. Seymour's remarks were an explanation from the railroad man's viewpoint of the present slack conditions in the coke market. He went as far back as 1907, since which time conditions in the Connelville coke market have been susceptible to many abrupt changes, up and down. Mr. Seymour contended that other coke fields have diverted a portion of the demand away from the Connelville district and that the building and operation of by-product ovens has also lessened the demand in recent months for coke tonnage from this region.

In his address Mr. Seymour at one point used unconsciously a quotation from a recent interview of a high official of the United States Steel Corporation regarding the diversion of tonnage from the Connelville region, which brought on a good natured colloquy between the speaker and O. W. Kennedy as to what person was responsible for Mr. Seymour's utterances. Mr. Seymour got around the question by telling a story at his own expense by which he was able to explain the situation and the circumstances.

Continuing Mr. Seymour contended that the rates on coal and coke shipments have nothing to do with the lack of prosperity in this region. He said the same rates prevailed during prosperous periods the region enjoyed in the past. The following persons were present:

S. L. Seymour, F. F. Truesdale, Harry Whyol, James H. Cray, G. S. Harrah, J. P. Brennan, of Scottsdale; R. J. Humphries, of Latrobe; M. F. Pickard, W. A. Bishop, W. R. Soloson and Cyrus Ehard, of Connelville; Charles B. Homestead and G. E. Lehart, of New Salem; F. W. Byrnes of Scottsdale; L. V. Semans, T. B. Semans, L. W. Foss, George Whyol, J. W. Abraham, John R. Thompson, D. B. Stauff, E. D. Fulton, F. S. Kelghey, J. M. Husted, J. E. Husted, R. W. Gilmore, Francis Rocks, John E. Rocks, J. B. Tophan, W. A. Stone, G. P. Stone, George H. Fortz, P. E. Weddel, T. ## A New Railroad in Greene County

The corps of Pennsylvania railroad surveyors under charge of Engineer Samuel Wolf, which has been engaged for about two months in making a railroad survey from the Bessener Coke Company's works, near Millboro, via Clarksville, Jefferson and Homeville to Waynesburg, completed the survey to Waynesburg Saturday. Reference to this survey has been made in the Greene county papers several times since it was begun. The line follows Ten Mile creek the entire distance. The engineer party arrived at a point about a mile east of Waynesburg on Friday evening and on Saturday noon completed their survey into the borough, connecting with the switch of the Waynesburg and Washington railroad, east of Morgan street, on the old fair ground. Saturday afternoon they were surveying on the Sycamore farm southwest of Waynesburg, which would indicate an extension of the projected line beyond Waynesburg. This might be for the standardizing of the Waynesburg & Washington, or the survey may go on west toward Wheeling.

Not Sisters

Now and again you see two women passing down the street who look like sisters. You are astonished to learn that they are mother and daughter, and you realize that a woman at forty or forty-five ought to be at her finest and fairest. Why isn't it so?

The general health of woman is so intimately associated with the local health of the essentially feminine organs that there can be no red cheeks and round form where there is female weakness.

Women who have suffered from this trouble have found prompt relief and cure in the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It gives vigor and vitality to the organs of womanhood. It clears the complexion, brightens the eyes and reddens the cheeks.

No alcohol, or habit-forming drugs is contained in "Favorite Prescription." Any sick woman may consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free. Every letter is held as sacredly confidential, and answered in a plain envelope. Address: World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, Pres., Buffalo, N. Y.

ALL IS READY FOR CONVENTION

At the Methodist Protestant Church on Thursday and Friday.

MANY DELEGATES TO ATTEND

As Representatives of Young People's Societies from the Churches of Western Pennsylvania—Prominent Speakers on the Program.

Everything is in readiness for the twenty-fifth annual convention of the Methodist Protestant Young People's Societies to be held in this city Thursday and Friday, May 11th and 12th at the Methodist Protestant church. This organization represents about 15,000 members in the Christian Endeavor societies and Sunday schools of 20 churches throughout Western Pennsylvania, Eastern Ohio and Northern West Virginia. Rev. W. A. Cuffman of Pittsburg is the President.

The program is replete with interesting numbers by specialists in all phases of Christian work. Rev. Dr.
George C. Sheppard of Washington, Pa., has charge of the devotional exercises at all sessions, while Rev. J.
W. Hawley of Castle Shannon, Pa., will lead the singing. Rev. Dr. C. F.
Wilbur, editor of the Sunday School Literature of the Methodist Protestant church, will conduct a round table on modern Sunday school work, and Rev.
C. H. Hubbell, D. D., will make an address and conduct an open conference on Christian Endeavor methods.

A number of especial interest is a dramatic reading with spiritual interpretation by Evangelist Robert Dowling, the converted actor. After 32 years before the footlights, associating with Joseph Jefferson, Mary Anderson and other stars of the theatrical firmament, Mr. Dowling was converted three years ago in Washington, D. C.
He immediately left the stage and the immense salary his histrionic talent drew him and began preaching the Gospel. His last drama in which he appeared was "The Voice from the Wilderness," he playing John the Baptist, the playing of which role had much to do with his conversion. He will read an act from this drama giving spiritual interpretations, on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Other prominent speakers are Rev.
J. S. Martin, General Superintendent of the National Reform Association, Rev. Dr. C. C. Miller, President of the Susquehanna County Christian Endeavor
Union, Miss Cora B. Dickie, Secretary of the Allegheny County Sunday School Association, Attorney John M.
Kelle of Pittsburg, and Rev. Dr. A.
E. Fletcher of Knoxville, Pa., formerly of Conneltsville.

The attendance at the convention will be large. An extra coach will be added to the Thursday morning train from Pittsburg while the trolley lines will bring in large delegations from Fayette county, a party of 100 coming from Dunbar and another of 50 from Grand Ford.

East Liberty a Growing Town

East Liberty, one of the oldest towns in Pennsylvania, has taken on a new lease of life and is now in a flourishing condition. Building has been going on for the past year on every street and nearly all the available lots in the town have been taken. East Liberty is an ideal town for a quiet residence. In the last year or two this town has increased wonderfully in population and in property valuation.
How surprised some of the old pioneer residents who have passed to the great beyond would be if they would waken from that last sleep and behold the wonderful things that have been done there since such men as these have passed away.

William McBurney, who in his time was the village blacksmith, William Poiré farmer and tanner; George Ransom, who owned and operated the factory; Henry Galley, who owned the farm upon which was built the town of Dickerson Run; Isaac Culbert, who operated a blacksmith shop on the corner of Maple and Main streets;
George French, contractor and painter; Andrew Fairchild, undertaker and Justice of the Peace; David Randolph, shoemaker; William Hartwick, carpenter; James Evans, railroad foreman; Henry Snyder, who owned and operated the foundry; Charles Choysey, carpenter; C. J. Miller, who ran the village grocery store; A. J. Hill, farmer; Joseph Welshhouse, who made flour at the Liberty mill; William Haley, tannery; John Hornbeck, John Biers, Andy Berry, Knobel Thomas, John Galley, Rankin Miley and many others.

Falls to Death.
FAIRMONT, W. Va., May 8.—
George Dehaunt, a glass blower at the Fairmont Window Glass plant, met a horrible death Saturday. He fell into a pit of molten glass. In falling he struck his head, splitting it open, and one eye and ear were gone.

Sentenced to Huntingdon.
ONE and Edward Enos, the Lebanon boys who burglarized nine stores and who never saw a street car until brought to Greensburg by an officer, pleaded guilty in court Saturday, and were sentenced to Huntingdon.

WHAT MAKES
COKE REGION PROSPERITY?

What makes the Connelleville coke region prosperous?

This is a very interesting question to the coke operators and their employees, to business men and people generally whose prosperity and dependence are circumscribed in this environment.

The explanation of a railroad official, especially one possessing no general and happy disposition, an Division Freight Agent, Secretary, could not help but be interesting, even if not entirely convincing. It is quite true, as he says, that the Connelleville coke region has seen its greatest prosperity under the present freight rates on coke, and he might have put the matter more strongly by saying that the Connelleville coke region has seen its greatest business and its greatest prosperity under even higher freight rates than those which now prevail, but neither statement would be any answer to the present demand for equitable freight rates on Connelleville coke.

The Connelleville coke region has been able in times past to pay the discriminating freight rates on its product, and to do a very profitable and highly satisfactory business because coke prices were relatively greater than coke rates. We should not, however, lose sight of the fact that this did not at any time make the freight rates on coke equitable. It seems that they have always and persistently and discriminately against the Connelleville region.

That discrimination is more acutely felt just now, not so much because one of the larger operators of the Steel Corporation is making by-product coke out of West Virginia and Indiana coals and supplying the furnaces of Connelleville coke, but because the Connelleville region never furnished this plant any considerable quantities of coke, and never a pound of merchant coke, which is the coke that makes the market.

A PROPER SETTLEMENT OF THE COKE STRIKE.

The representatives of the labor unions, prompted thereby by certain philanthropists but rather sentimental people, now propose to arbitrate the mining strike in the Irwin, Greensburg, Connelleville and Upper Connelleville districts.

While peaceful propositions are always entitled to consideration by law-abiding citizens, it is proper to draw attention to the fact that this is the first of the kind that has come from the strike-makers in these districts; and that, to say the least, it comes late and evidently from those who realize that their battle is already lost.

The miners in these districts were persuaded to secretly join the organization known as the United Mine Workers and then suddenly strike to force the operators to "recognize" the union, that is in effect to make their labor contracts with them instead of with the employees themselves.

The employers refused to be coerced. The newly made and promptly suffering union miners were ordered out on a strike. These were the operators' employed non-union labor, and paid the Sheriff of the county large sums for protection in their lawful right to run their plants unmolested.

In the meantime, it developed that there was a real motive behind the strike. It has been repeatedly asserted and never denied that the strike movement was instigated by certain rival mining interests working through corrupt labor leaders to secure all or a major portion of the trade of the Westmoreland coal mon in the eastern markets.

In common with all right-thinking citizens, we have in the Westmoreland labor troubles, unobscuredly composed, but it is in the sincere desire of the labor leaders and philanthropists to accomplish this happy result perhaps they had better go back to the primary situation and adjust matters from the beginning to the ending, not forgetting to call the labor officials responsible for the condition at the extreme end of the bunch of rattles which makes up the tail of the snake.

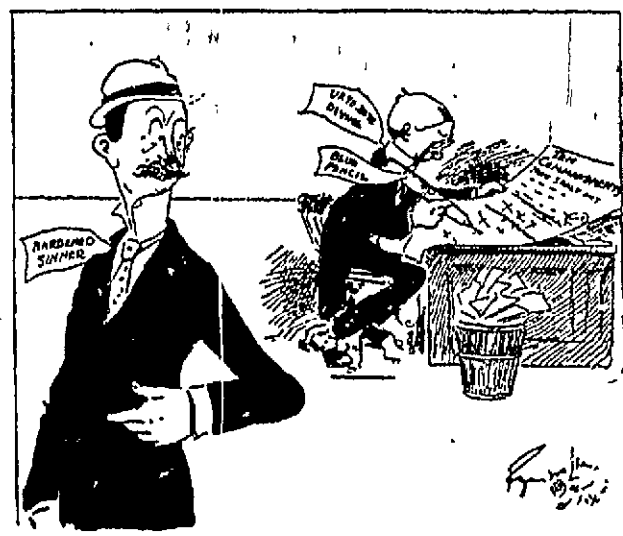

The Good Old Summer Time was pretty close on Sunday.

President Diaz announces that he will quit the job when he gets ready. That will perhaps have to meet the views of the revolutionists. In the meantime, it is asserted in some quarters that Washington is nervous. It is pretty hard to understand what Washington would be nervous about.

The Pittsburgh Pina has lost the K-call features, but it was merely the butler at the extreme end of the bunch of rattles which makes up the tail of the snake.

Sympathy strikes are sentimental and unavailing.

As the condition precedent to the arbitration of the Westmoreland coal mining troubles it must be well to cease the common custom of plugging

"Quite right," agreed Breed. "Quite right. Let all things be done in due form," and, apparently resolved not to interfere with proper observances, Breed drew his old, well worn Bible to him and began to mumble to himself garbled quotations of which weariness was the chief burden.

"I am the prime minister," Zolphan stated with burlesque gravity, arising and shaking hands with Rollins. "Our friend Jens, here, is the lord high chamberlain. Mrs. Remondier is the first lady in waiting. If you behave yourself, Rollins, we'll be like you, date or an earl or something. Pick out your title—anything you please."

Rollins smiled thinly, but he could not take his eyes from his mind from the appalling wreck of Henry Breed, the richest man the world had ever known or perhaps ever would know, the man who, starting without a dollar, had in the course of an ordinary lifetime compressed half the wealth of a nation in his own use and through that half controlled the balance of it. And he was come to this end!

Nelson roused Rollins to immediate business.

"What is the news?" he asked abruptly.

Rollins turned to him with relief. "I have a force of more than fifteen hundred good, solid men who will be here in half an hour to protect the vaults. I am quite sure that an attack will be made upon them tonight. I have been collecting my forces for a week against this moment and watching Kelvin through the spy of whom you told me. When they got the Gattings into the garage today I knew the time was growing very short. We made a forced march tonight, ranking a straight cut to get here."

"They have Gattings, you say?" asked Nelson, troubled.

"Fourteen of them from the government arsenal mounted in automobiles. If my men get here in time I want to ambush the expedition from behind the wall and have my sharpshooters puncture their tires and pick off their gunners. Kelvin is to be among them. If we can capture him the whole problem is solved."

"But they have Gattings?" protested Nelson.

"We have ambush and strategy," insisted Rollins confidently. "If only my forces can arrive in time!"

"You have done wonders," said Nelson admiringly. "How have you managed it? I thought you were helpless."

Rollins shrugged his shoulders.

"Kelvin had one enemy he could not throttle, and that was the American press, which, after all, is the staunch foundation upon which our liberty has been founded and which will then the instant of his proclamation Kelvin had a censor ready to take over the charge of every newspaper office in the United States. He might as well have put infants there. In some cases the censors were intimidated, in others they were hoodwinked, in others they were bound and gagged and in some places killed. The eastern newspapers on the very first day issued my call to arms, and, though the telegraph was closed to us, within two days the appeal was being printed in Chicago and St. Louis, spreading farther west every day since the proclamation. In every village and every country settlement men are answering the sort of men who always respond to the call of patriotism, the sort of men who know when their country and their homes are in danger and who are willing to die to defend them. Nelson, you can't whip men like that!"

Zolphan, whose whole bearing until now had been like the dexterity of an overgrown, mischievous schoolboy, smiled and nodded his head approvingly.

"It is the existence of such men as these, followers of yours, and your-closing the door after her. He paused for a moment with sudden mastery to enter her in his arms, and for just that moment she had her head in surrender upon his shoulder. She knew now that her dreams of Kelvin had been but the outcome of a youthful ideal—an ideal which had made her see Philip through distorted eyes, which had clouded her vision to this sterile love.

"It looks like desertion," said Rollins, "but we can do no good here."

He struck out with her along the path, but she pulled against his direction.

"This way," she insisted, "straight back from the house to the garden and around past the kennels. Then we can be under cover all the way."

In the meantime in the library the voice of Jens Nelson, cool and collected, inquired:

"How shall we prepare to die—standing or crouching?"

Dr. Zolphan, standing where he had been, looked swiftly about the room. They were the only occupants. Two sharp, resounding shots echoed just outside the hall door.

"The guards!" exclaimed Zolphan. "They are still at the door. There is a part of your America, the part that I love. What wonderful material for my book. Come! If we must die let us die crouching," and without waiting he roused up the stairs, heading toward the attic.

Nelson hesitated a moment. Two more shots rang out, followed by howls of hate, and then a fusillade of bullets splattered against the walls, crashed through the glass and imbedded themselves with soft thuds into the heavy woodwork of the doors. Nelson heaved no longer, but followed the doctor.

CHAPTER XXVI.

THE doors opened but a brief resistance after the two guards had been beaten down and torn and mangled over, and then the dust blackened mob came bursting in, at their head Lillian Breed, the incarnation of wild atavistic pygmyhood, the incarnation of all the evil things that are red.

"Welcome to our home!" she cried, and, thrusting her left arm beneath that of Blagg, she wheeled with him into the library, while their followers poured after them like a foul flood throughout the house.

"Help yourselves, my good friends," she shouted. "The house is yours and all that it contains, even to its unbecoming hosts, if you need them."

In the library Blagg jumped upon the very table which Breed had so lately quitted and clapped his hands for silence.

"Order there!" he shouted and stamped heavily with his ball-studded heel upon the polished mahogany of the table top.

"Who orders order?" roared a half-drunken tinner who had already as-closed the door after her. He paused for a moment with sudden mastery to enter her in his arms, and for just that moment she had her head in surrender upon his shoulder. She knew now that her dreams of Kelvin had been but the outcome of a youthful ideal—an ideal which had made her see Philip through distorted eyes, which had clouded her vision to this sterile love.

"WIT, LOOK WHO'S HERE!" SHE CRIED.

cured a deceiver from the dining room and now crowded into the door. His face was blackened with powder smoke. He raised the deceiver to his lips and took a long pull of the liquor. "Who orders order?" Orders are for slaves! I defy orders!"

HIGH SCHOOL LADS HUMBLE SCOTSDALE.

Have No Trouble Winning Saturday's Contest 14 to 5.

RUN WILD ON THE BASES

Likewise Do They Hit the Sphere Resounding Smacks and Form Procession Across the Pan-Visitors Looked Dangerous Once.

Connellsville High School's baseball team inaugurated its season at home Saturday afternoon by defeating Scottdale High School 14 to 5. It was a brilliant game and drew a painfully large crowd to the deliriously excited of Pitcher Tannehill. Tannehill had Joe Doyle lashed to the mast for procrastination, and Doyle, in his time, was considered the champion slow boy. Probably Mr. Tannehill adopted different tactics to spare himself, for when he did pitch the Coker school kids swarmed the sphere in all directions of Silvio field. On the other hand neither Edmund nor McFarland could be touched up to any great degree except in the sixth inning when Scottdale got to the latter for three hits and four runs. After that Mac settled down and whiffed as brilliantly as his pre-decorator on the mound.

Poor catching was largely responsible for the big score. Owens began receiving Tannehill's shots but after something more than a dozen pillows were swiped and two runs had tallied because of passing balls, Bloom came in from short and denoted the mound. Owens taking middle field while Wooster filled the position made famous by Honus Wagner.

The locals started scoring in the first inning and kept it up. They scored four runs in the first inning, three in the second and four in the third. After that they stowed down, getting a lone tally in the fifth and two in the seventh. Scottdale broke the ice with a single score in the fourth inning and piled up a quartette after McFarland started pitching in the sixth. Then they stopped.

The locals played good baseball and some not so good. The defense had little to do with Edmunds on the mound. The lone run off Edmunds was made on a clean two-base drive by Wilson, a steal and Lirly's boot of the toss and let the ball get into the crowd back of third. Ragged work back of McFarland was largely responsible for Scottdale's sixth inning.

Fifty Years Ago Sunday, May 7.

Tennessee entered into a military league with the Confederate States, making the military power of the state subject to the Confederate. Virginia joined the southern Confederacy and occupied Arlington Heights, across the Potomac from Washington, with state troops commanded by Robert E. Lee.

Fifty Years Ago Today, May 8.

W. T. Sherman, president of a St. Louis street railway company, offered his military services to the secretary of war. The famous United States revenue cutter Harriet Lane was captured in Chesapeake bay by Confederate privateers.

Connellsville's runs were night-march. Davies, in the first inning drew a pass. He stole second and scored on Dick's bad throw of Porter's single. Porter went to second on the play and stole third. Lirly popped to Perry. Porter scored and Scott was into at first when Owens faced with a base dumped in front of the plate. Scott stole second and scored on Edmund's two-base drive. Edmunds went to third on Wooster's bad return. Sheets fanned but McCormick's timely single brought Edmunds home. McCormick stole second but died there when Lynn whiffed.

In the second inning A. Buttermore got a single when McCombs slipped in right. He stole. Davies fanned but reached first in safety because Owens failed to hold the ball. Porter cleared the paths with a screaming triple and trotted home on a passed ball.

Four more runs came in the third. Sheets singled and stole, scoring on safety by McCormick. Lynn's single got "Doodle" to third to register on a passed ball. Lynn stole second and the workings below the surface trembled when he hit second on a close decision. He scored while A. Buttermore was dying, Wilson to Dougherty. Davies rolled out to Dougherty but Porter was hit in the slats and stole his way to third. He scored when Lirly reached first on a missed field strike. Lirly also pilfered his way to the corner nearest home but was left there when Scott failed to connect.

That ended the scoring for a time. One lone run was tallied in the fifth inning. Lynn singled and stole. A. Buttermore got to first on a rank muff by Wooster. Davies struck out and Lynn was caught trying to steal third on the play. Perry's boot of Porter's sharp grounder enabled Buttermore to score.

The last two runs of the game came on a single by Lynn. Dougherty's muff on a single by Bloom. Lirly's clean three-bagger to left field. The score:

Four Men Hurt in Mine Accident

What might have been a very serious accident, but which resulted only in slight injury to four men, occurred Saturday afternoon in the Morewood mine of the H. C. Frick Coke Company. The injured men were: Ernest Copeland, Thomas Copeland, Eugene Larkin and Emmet Jones.

There had been a fall at a curve on the main haulage road and 10 men were sent to clean it up. After the road was clear, four of the men thoughtlessly stepped inside the haulage rope to allow the trip to pass. For some unknown cause, the rope jumped the sheave wheel and pinned the men against the rib. The other six at once sprang to their assistance and succeeded in getting them out of danger, not, however, before they had been more or less cut and bruised.

All were removed to their homes in Mt. Pleasant, and will be able to return to work within a week.

Had the four men been working alone, it is almost certain that some, if not all, would have been killed.

Will Elect Officers.

The annual election of officers will take place at the regular meeting of the Men's League of the United Presbyterian Church to be held Wednesday evening at the close of the regular prayer services.

Quality, First and Last, Is the Keynote of This Sale
Large Quantity Purchases Lowered the Prices Without Affecting Our Quality Standard.

If some of the prices are not smaller than last year's we have been able to give greater value for the same money. Again, if some prices are less, it is not at the expense of quality, but because large purchases compelled a concession.

Last year, for instance, we had a certain night gown for $1.25; this year the same thing, decidedly better in details, is only 98c. Here is another point—for lower priced underclothes we have chosen hemstitched, ruffles and tucks for trimming or a simple scallop.

This Summer Sale of White Contains Muslinwear for Everybody

Our January sale of white was scarcely over when we began preparing for the sale that opens Wednesday, this week. To do the underwear business right and get it in line with every other department of high efficiency, we made use of the ideas and criticisms of our customers, as well as the experience gained in past sales. We want to and are going to make this sale the biggest thing of its kind we ever before attempted. The goods and the prices, the service and the two weeks duration will very likely accomplish our purpose.

Underwear for the June bride; and for women who expect to travel and who will need countless inexpensive garments. Underwear for mothers who wish to clothe their little folks as inexpensively and prettily as possible.

Underwear fashioned for graceful, slender figures and also garments of more fulness for those who want them.

Underwear, lace trimmed, embroidery trimmed or just plain, sensibly fashioned hemstitched sorts.

We believe muslin garments of every desired sort is here, better displayed and assorted than at any previous season.

Then comes fabrics for women who are having sewing done at home and who will be glad to buy white goods and embroideries to advantage. Waists, sacques, corsets—price cut.

There is an opportunity for housewives to replenish linen closets at close prices.

In a word, this sale is of particular interest to all women who like to be prettily and satisfactorily clothed, and who take pride in their homes.
